Summary

I'm Robert, a dedicated 19 years old coder from Hungary, looking forward to gain more experience and make good use of his skills. I am open to adaptation and constant learning to acquire new skills and adapt to the latest technologies. My main goal is the most precisely developed result possible, and to adapt to the client. I have experience in teamwork and delivering projects to customers. I acquired these experiences from working with/for a private individual. In my opinion, in favor of great work and final results, also to reach the company's goals, teamwork is a key component.
